Greensburg YMCA Announces New Summer Sports Clinics

GREENSBURG — The Greensburg YMCA is offering a series of new summer sports camps for area youth, beginning in early July.

The sports camps accommodate youth 2 years old through middle-school age, according to Matt Ambrose, the Y's sports and wellness director.

"We are really excited about these new sports camps," Ambrose said. "We have designed an evening schedule of sports camps in which the youth of our service area can participate. We believe these camps will fill a huge void in the wellness and physical well-being of our youth to engage in organized fitness activities during their formative years.

"These programs fall right into our mission statement of placing Christian principles into practice through programs that build a healthy spirit, mind and body for all," Ambrose added.
